

Mobile Home Replacement Window Guide from Modernize.com

September 16, 2020

While less costly than conventional window replacement, there are special considerations for mobile home projects

Foster City, CA—September 16, 2020—Modernize.com shows mobile homeowners how to navigate window replacement. Whether recent storm damage or the changing seasons make replacing windows a priority, there are important differences between updating windows in mobile versus conventional homes.

Modernize home improvement experts outline factors that make mobile home window replacement straight-forward, including:

- Standard window sizes and styles
- Comparatively low cost (ranging between $175--$300 per window)

The mobile home window replacement guidance is available here: mobile home replacement windows

"Mobile homeowners can improve comfort and reduce heating and cooling costs with window replacement," explains Gregg Hicks, vice president of Modernize.com. "New windows may also enhance aesthetics and be far easier to operate than certain vintage styles. Given the relatively low cost, mobile home window replacement can add substantial value."

Homeowners must determine their preferences for window design, materials, and glazing. It is also advisable to confirm mobile park regulations related to window types and colors permitted.

Hicks is available to discuss the mobile home window replacement process and advise on how to choose a contractor or installer. Modernize.com can also supply a byline article on window replacement, if needed. Would you like additional information?
