Modernize surveys homeowners to discover holiday travel and home improvement plans

FOSTER CITY, Calif., Nov. 18, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- Modernize.com, a leader in the home improvement and home services industry, releases results from a recent survey of 5,000 homeowners conducted between September and October, 2020. The findings show:

- 76% of respondents will not travel this holiday season
- 28% will pursue exterior home improvement projects
- 17% will pursue both interior and exterior home renovation projects

Survey responses suggest that nearly half of homeowners may apply funds to home improvement projects that might ordinarily be spent on holiday travel. See the complete results: Home improvement for the holidays

Home renovation spending planned

- 41% plan to spend less than $1,000
- 31% plan to spend between $1,001 and $5,000
- 16% plan to spend between $5,001 and $10,000
- 6% plan to spend between $10,001 and $15,000
- 5% plan to spend more than $15,000

"While our survey shows that almost 40% of homeowners plan to pay for their improvement projects with cash, the remainder will seek financing to cover the costs," observes, Cassie Morien, homeowner insights analyst for Modernize.com. "Fortunately, there are a range of options for financing home renovations, ranging from home equity lines of credit to personal loans to credit cards."

Morien is available to elaborate on the most recent homeowner survey and can discuss options for financing home improvement projects.
